Why Waistcoats?
Ever wondered why Sixpenny Handley holds a Waistcoat Festival? The answer lies with a single spark that flew from the Wheelwright's shed on 20 May 1892 and the village was all but burned to the ground. Many families lost everything and when countless kind-hearted neighbours from the surrounding villages heard of their plight they set to to help and donated so many clothes that the saying went that "you could spot a Handley man by the number of waistcoats he wore!" So, to commemorate this kindness and to keep the village stories alive, the Waistcoat Festival was born.

Waistcoat Song
In eighteen hundred and ninety two,
Began a tale I'll tell to you.
Butcher, Baker, Wheelwright too
Were at the jobs they're meant to do.

Chorus: All the men wore waistcoats,
All the men wore waistcoats,
All the men wore waistcoats,
In Handley eighteen ninety-two!

A spark flew from the wheelwright's shed,
And floated out right over-head.
It landed on a High Street thatch;
It was as if you'd struck a match!

Chorus: All the men wore waistcoats (x3)
In Handley 1892!

The fire spread quickly down the street,
Fifty houses felt the heat!
Three full days it blazed away,
So hot you could not walk that way.

Chorus: All the men lost waistcoats,
All the men lost waistcoats,
All the men lost waistcoats,
In Handley 1892!

Shepherd huts came for no rent,
Bell tents from the Government.
The homeless were in quite a fix,
They numbered one hundred and eighty six.

Chorus: And they had no waistcoats,
And they had no waistcoats,
And they had no waistcoats,
In Handley 1892!

The plight of Handley was well told,
Clothes were sent for young and old.
In every parcel that was prized,
Arrived more waistcoats multi-sized!

All men wore two waistcoats,
Women wore two waistcoats,
Everyone wore two waistcoats,
In Handley 1892!
